WILLARD WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeat of Jack Johnson at Havana Yesterday by "White Hope."

NEGRO IS EXHAUSTED

Slowed Up After Twenty Rounds—Lay Still When Knocked Down Until Counted Out.

Havana, April 6—Jack Johnson lost his claim to fistic fame as the heavyweight champion of the world the title being wrested from him by Jess Willard, the Kansas cowboy, the biggest man who ever entered the prize ring and a "white hope" who at last had made good.

Tomorrow Johnson, his wife and a little group of friends will sail for Martinique, there to await passage back to France, where Johnson proposes to settle down and lead the life of a farmer, raising pigs and chickens. There is no doubt that he is through with the ring.

Willard is going back to the United States to win the fortune which was denied him yesterday, when Johnson got $30,000 before the fight started, Willard taking only a small share of the net receipts. Just what his share was is not known.

Yesterday's fight probably has no parallel in the history of ring battles. For 20 rounds Johnson punched and pounded Willard at will, but his blows grew perceptibly less powerful as the fight progressed, until at last he seemed unable or unwilling to go on.

Johnson stopped leading and for three or found rounds the battle between the two huge men was little more than a series of plastic poses of white or black gladiator.

So it was until the twenty-fifth round, when Willard got one of his wild swings, windmill right-hand smashes to Johnson's heart. This was the begining of the end.

When the round closed Johnson sent word to his wife that he was all in and told her to start for home. She was on the way out and was passing the ring in the twenty-sixth round when a stinging left to the body and a cyclonic right to the jaw caused Johnson to crumble on the floor of the ring, where he lay partly outside the ropes until the refree counted 10 and held up Willard's hand in token of his newly-won laurels.

There is much discussion tonight, and probably will be for a long time, among the followers of the fighting game as to whether Johnson was really knocked out. In the sense of being smashed into unconsciousness he certainly was not put out.

The consensus of opinon is that Johnson expected and knew that there was no possibility of his winning, so, when knocked down, he chose to take the count rather than rise and stand further punishment.

Johnson has often stated that fighting is a business, and he would not foolishly submit to repeated knockdowns when he found he had met his master.

A second or two after Jack Welsh the refree, had counted 10, Johnson quickly got up.

For an instant is seemed as if trouble was threatened but some 50 or more of the several hundred soldiers stationed about the fight arena jumped into the ring, and formed circles around the vanquished and victor.

Under the escort of the soldiers Willard and Johnson left the ring and went to their dressing room, while the crowd cheered and broke into wild discussion.

Willard was out of his dressing room in a few moments and in an automobile on his way back to Havana. He was escorted half way to the city from the Marianao race track, where the fight was held, by a troop of Cuban cavalry.

Crowds lined the streets and narrow roadways, and the new white champion was loudly cheered. He was decidedly the favorite of the crowd all through the fight and is the hero of the island.

The new champion's lip, right ear and left cheek showed slight cuts, but at no time was there more than a drop or two of blood in evidence.

Willard said:

"I knew I could do it. Johnson gave me a great battle for 20 rounds bue he could not hurt me, although his punches were powerful. I had not figured I would win before the twentieth round, feeling sure Johnson would show up well until then. I was sure that my endurance was superior to his and that by laying back I could tire him out. I fought cautiously until the twentieth round and then in the twenty first and twenty second seeing Johnson tiring rapidly, I went in to finish him up. In the twenty fourth I knew I had the championship within my grasp. In the twenty fifth I shot across two body punches knowing they would weaken the champion, and when the twenty sixth came I went out to finish Johnson. When the round started Johnson was slow in getting from his corner and his grogginess spurred me on. I backed him into a corner, feinted with my left, forcing him to shift his guard and then shot my right against his jaw with all the power in my body ending the fight and realizing my life's greatest ambition."

Johnson said:

"I met a better man and was beaten. I did the best I could and put forth the best that was in me to win, but despite the rain of blows Willard seemed unaffected, though I hit him hard enough and often enough in the first 20 rounds to floor 10 ordinary men.

"One consolation I have is that I proved to my friends that I was in condition. This was shown by the fight up to the twentieth round. No man could have tried harder than I to win, but I was up against a man who would not crumble when I hit him and whose right to my jaw took the championship from me."

NAPOLEON'S PROPHECY.

Nothing, perhaps, better demonstrates the fashion in which the world is changing under our eyes almost hourly, nothing more thoroughly emphasizes the greatness of the time in which we are living, than the struggle now going on at the western sea gate of Constantinople. After five centuries the sands of the Osmanli are running out, the Eastern question, which for two centuries has kept the world by the ears, is approaching final liquidation, and dimly, through the fog of the tumultuous present, it is possible to perceive a time when Russia may fulfill the forecast of the great Napoleon, may dominate continental Europe, with one hand on the Dardanelles and the other on the mouth of the Vistula. All British statesmen see, have long seen, but they had to choose between the Russian and the German, and wisely or mistakenly they have chosen the Slav and must henceforth abide by the consequences of their decison. —(New Republic.)

Submarine Caught in a Net

Paris April 6—A German submarine has become securely entangled in a net specially designed for that purpose and placed off Dover, according to the Petit Journal's Dunkirk correspondent, which adds that the French naval authorities expect to capture the submarine when it comes to the surface.

Miles of submarine traps have been set by the British navy a tharbor entrances and other strategic points around the British Isles to catch German submarines engaged in blockading England. The traps are not unlike gill nets used by fishermen.

NEW CHAMPION HEAVY WEIGHT

Present King of the Ring Roams About Havana During Day

CUBANS IN RAPTURES

Willard Absolutely Unhurt in His Contest With Johnson, Bearing Only a Few Scratches.

Havana April 6.—The new king of the ring was up early this morning. He ramed the streets, the center of a jostling, admiring throng. Such crowds followed hi m that at times his morning jaunt was absolutely blocked. Temperamental Cubans went into raptures of demonstration.

Willard was absolutely unhurt. Only of his winning battle. Jack Johnson, of his winnig battle. Jack Johnson, dethroned champion, on the other hand, was sore in mind and body. His ebony frame was racked with pain from Willard's pummeling.

Willard planed to leave here tomorrow for Jacksonville for a week's engagament and then go direct to New York. Then, at the head of a vaudeville company, with which he will give boxing exhibitions. Willard will make a tour of the country's principal cities.

Deluged with theatrical offers, Willard intimated today that the prize ring will not see him again, except in exhibitions, for at least a year.

EASTER SUNDAY IN PARIS

No Fashions Parade in Boulevards—95 per cent Attired in Black

Paris, April 6.—France's sublime patriotism—the noble self-sacrifice of her women—was weirdly and wonderfully demonstrated by the strangest Easter recorded since Paris became the world's fashion center.

The heavens moved to pity, wept throughout the day. The clouds, cooperated with the colorless feminine attire and the absence of flowers to produce a black Easter sharply in contrast to the gayety and the colorful scenes of normal years.

There was no fashion parade in the boulevards. Bois Boulogne was deserted. The scenes of the fashionable Madeleine and of the poorer quarters of Sacre Coeur and Notre Dame were virtually duplicated. The usual contrast between the wealthy and the poorer dressers was lost in the black pall.

The only relieving colors were occasional splotches of blue-gray coats red trousers and the white bandages of wounded soldiers. The only young men in sight were those in uniform; the other males were old men and little children.

Ninety five per cent of the women were gowned in black. The only new women's attire shown was in mourning bonnets and dresses. Hundreds self sacrificingly were wearing lost year's creations, even the fashionable Madeleine failing to show a single new chic creation.

The only relief from black, which has become internationally the women's khaki, was an occasional white wing flower hat, or less frequently a purple.

In the taper lighted Notre Dame the vast audience seemed composed entirely of swaying shadows.

The first deed of bargain and sale from the new territory of Alexandria to be recorded in the clerk's office here was placed on record today. It conveyed two lots from the Washington Monument Association to Robert H. Cox, city sergeant.

NEWS OF THE DAY

A dispatch from Athens issued by the official German news agency reports that the British battleship Lord Nelson was destroyed by fire of the Turkish guns after stranding inside the Dardanelles.

German submarine operations about England on Easter Sunday resulted in the destruction of three more ships, two British and one Russian. No lives were lost.

F. H. Wright, a young man from Farmville, Va., who told the Washington police he came to the capital city to get a job on the street car, reported last night that he was in Union Station when two white men asked him to go for a walk. He said they matched pennies, and when the game was finished, his $76 was gone.

The United States government has asked of Germany compensation to the amount of $228,059.54 in the case of the American ship William P. Frye, sunk on January 28 by the German raider, Prinz Eitel Friedrich. The State Department yesterday made public the text of the note in which the American claim is presented to the German government.

The German fleet, returning from a Russian expedition, was caught in its own mine field which was drifting in. All maritime traffic in the Baltic has been stopped. It is reported that six German steamers have been mined and sunk. The German squadron was unable to return to its base and took refuge between the islands of Gottland and Oland, off the Swedish sea coast, to remain until the passage is cleared.

A severe earthquake shock was felt at Rome at 7:40 o'clock Monday night. It lasted four seconds, and was followed by a number of lighter shocks that still continued yesterday. The earthquake seems to have been the most severe in the district ravaged b ythe disaster that wrecked Avezzano and several other towns in Central Italy.

Five more Prussian casualty lists containing the names of 31,715 private and officers, have been issued in Berlin, bringing the total Prussian casualties to date up to 1,133,081.

Six men have been taken out dead and fourteen who are missing are believed to have been killed in a gas explosion in the Shoal Creek Coal Company mine at Panama, Illinois, yesterday. When the explosion occurred there were 405 men at work in the mine.

The annual convention of the Independent Labor party in Norwich, England, yesterday adopted a resolution declaring that workingmen "are opposed to the policy which produced the war, and the duty of organized labor now is to secure peace at the earliest possible moment upon such conditions as will prove the best opportunities for the establishment of amicable relations between the workingmen of Europe."

Teetotalism will be enforced in all King George's household beginning tomorrow. An official announcement says: "By the king's command no wines or spirits will be consumed in any of his majesty's houses after today."

The body of a white woman found in the basement of 216 C street northwest Washington, a vacant house, was identified as that of Nellie Hill, sometimes known as Nellie Jackson, for seven years employed as cook by Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Ohlendorf, of Mount Rainier, Md. Her death was due to alcoholism.

Gurnie Mangine, a watchman at the Concord crossing of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, at Wilmington, Del., tried to burn out his own heart yesterday. Placing a poker in a stove in the watchman's tower, he heated it white. Then holding the poker against his chest just over the heart he pressed it inwardly with all his strength. When the hot metal burned its way through his flesh, he fainted. He was discovered unconscious a half hour afterward, when the crossing gates were not raised, and was taken to the Delaware Hospital. He will die. He would give no reason for the deed.

RUSSIANS CROSS INTO HUNGARY

Carry Dukla and Lupkow Passes and Gain Heights Above

THREATEN RAILROAD

Berlin Reports Indicate That Czar's Troops Have Made Gains in Northern Poland.

London, April 6.—The attention of the public for the time being is directed toward the great struggle for the Carpathian passes, where the Russians apparently are making very steady progress despite the obstinate resistance offered by the Austrian and German troops.

The Russians are on the Hungarian side of both the Dukla and Lupkow Passes, and with the aid of continual reinforcements are gaining the heights which dominate Uzok Pass. Even the Austrian official report admits that fighting is now taking place in the Laborcza Valley, which is south of Lupkow Pass, while the Russians last night announce the capture of Cisna, an important station on the high mountains between Lupkow and Uzok Passes, where they captured a great stock of war munitions and provisions.

The Russians also are advancing from Dukla Pass on Bartfeld, which is at the head of the line of railway running south into Hungary, and fighting not far from Mezolaborez, another important railroad head On Saturday and Sunday, they captured in the Carpathians upward of 3,000 prisoners. They also claim another success in Bukowina and the capture of another thousand prisoners, while the Austrians also assert that they repulsed a Russian force which attempted to cross the Dneister river.

The Russians also are making progress in Northern Poland, a German official report telling of the repulse of a Russian attack on Mariampol, which is considerably west of the region that a few days ago was in the possession of the Germans.

Petrograd, April 6—The most vicious bayonet battle in the history of the world is being fought on the southern ridge and slopes of the Carpathians at the Lupkow Pass according to dispatches reaching here today. In snow filled gullies and up and down the slippery mountain sides the struggle is going on.

The Austrians, in their retreat southward from the railway, abandoned much of their artillery. The Russians moved up the heights, supported only by small mounted guns.

Neither side has been able to put its artillery to effective use in the broken ranges. Guerilla warfare, fierce struggles between small groups in the narrow defiles, with Austrian and Slav clashing with cold steel, is strewing the Lupkow region with thousands of dead.

The Czar's troops have not yet passed the Lupkow according to the best information available at the war office today. They have driven the enemy from each successive height dominating the railway, the Austrian making their stand on the last ridge.

Because of the nature of the fighting at this point dispatches are conflicting, and it is possible that with both lines broken by intervening mountain peaks a few small bodies of Russians have made their way down the southern slopes through the Austrian lines.

Heavy re-enforcements have been thrown into the attack on the Lupkow Pass. The war office believes that once the way is cleared through this pass the right wing of the enemy north of the Uzsok will begin to withdraw.

UNITED STATES NOTE

Protest Against Placing Embargo on all Commercial Intercourse With Germany.

Washington, April 6—The United States government yesterday made public its note to Great Britain announcing that it "could not admit" either the right of the allies or their claims for justification in placing an embargo on all commercial intercourse between Germany and neutral countries.

London, April 6—While the American note is well received in official quarters, where its friendly tone is much appreciated, it is not believed possible that it will in any way swerve Great Britain from her intention to go to the greatest possible extent of cutting off German commerce, although there is some chance that the order in council will be modified so as to make conditions easier for neutral commerce between neutral ports. But England and France are more determined then ever to carry out their reprisals against Germany's submarine warfare.

The feature of the American note mentioning reparation is received in good spirit. If American citizens suffer damages, England will be glad enough to pay.

Aged Man a Suicide.

Lynchburg, Va., April 6.—J. W. Inge, aged about 60, leaped in front of the locomotive of train 18, on the Norfolk and Western, at Clays, shortly before1 o'clock, and was instantly killed. A note was found in his clothing giving directions for his funeral. The man's mind had been unbalanced for some time and his relatives were not surprised at his act.

DASH OR INTERNMENT

Activity Among Government Officials Leads to Belief That Something Important is Pending.

Newport News, Va., April 6.—Activity of officials of the Washington government with relation to the German merchant raider Prinz Eitel Friedrich, which has been in refuge at this port for nearly a month, assumed the most active stage yesterday and last night that has been apparent since the neutrality problems precipitated by the arrival of the warvessel were confronted.

Late yesterday important interchanges were made between the Treasury Department and Collector of Customs Hamilton after the latter had conferred with Rear-Admiral Beatty, commandant of the Norfolk Navy Yard, and with Rear Admiral Helm, on board the battleship Alabama which guards the channel to the sea from Norfolk and Newport News. Last night, as a result of the chain of negotiations between the Treasury and Navy Department officials, Collector Hamilton went on board the Prinz Eitel and consulted with Captain Max Thierichens, commander of the German ship. At 9 o'clock the collector left the Eitel Friedrich in a navy-yard launch and steamed out to Hampton Roads, where he again boarded the Alabama.

Rear-Admiral Beatty and staff visited the Eitel Friedrich late in the afternoon.

Another development of the day was a visit of Commander Thierichens to the American battleship, where he paid his respects to Admiral Helm. Whether any official significance attached to this visit could not be ascertained. Arrival of two big tugs at the Eitel's pier early in the day gave rise to reports that the German ship was about to be moved. When the commercial tugs reached the shipyard they steamed alongside the navy-yard patrol boat anchored at the Eitel's stern, and were given directions by the officer in command before they tied up to adjacent piers. Reports that internment processes had been instituted were freely circulated, but that such a consummation of the issue has not developed seemed assured here last night. That the climax in the case is near at hand, however, was evident on all sides, particularly in view of the unusual activity of the representatives of the American government in charge of the situation.

That agents of the British government have taken official notice of facts relating to the Prinz Eitel also was reported here last night. Early in the day Barton Myers, British vice-consul at Norfolk, discussed phases of the matter with the collector of customs. The subject of the conference could not be learned in view of extraordinary precautions being taken by government officials. It was understood, however, that the British vice consul was advised to take up the matters he presented through the British ambassador with State Department at Washington. Some complaint, it is understood, has been made on the part of Great Britain that the German cruiser has been permitted to exceed the time she should be permitted to remain in an American port under regulations governing belligerent warships in neutral ports.

William K. Pierce, 63, former well-to-do plumbing manufaeturer of Syracuse, N. Y., fired a bullet in his brain yesterday in the bathroom of the apartment of his brother-in-law, Lieut. Col. R. R. Lynch, U. S. A., in the Avondale, Washington. Despondency because of business failure is given as the probable motive for Mr. Pierce's act.

ALVA AERIE GIVES DANCE

Festive Scenes at The Opera House and Elks' Auditorium Last Night.

The great social affair of Alva Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, last night was a grand success in every instance from the arrangement of the magnificent vocal concert and band numbers, to the end of the entire programe of dancing, added with the beauty of the decorators. After the arrival of the special trains from Washington, the curtain was drawn, the members of the United States Marine Band began the strains of the famous march, "The Guiding Star," followed by Suppe's Overture "Poet and Peasant," after which Mrs. William T. Reed sang, Vander Stucken's, "Oh Come With Me in the Summer Night," Salter's "The Cry of Rachel," and "A Birthday" by the famous composer, Woodman. The well known contraito of Washington, was heard for the first time here, and today the musical world of the city are thankul to the Fraternal Order of Eagles for the opportunity of hearing the noted singer.

Subsequently the Marine Band gave several selections and Dr. Kennedy so delightfully entertained the audience by singing Leoncavallo "Pagliacci," which was so ably rendered as to produce encores lasting several minutes. The great tenor was unable to respond owing to the length of the programe, as he was to sing again, and Mr. Arthur Whitcomb gave Haden Millard's "Le reve d' Amour," and responded twice to the the recall. Miss Katherine Brill ably sang Eben Barley's "Waltz Song," and she was encored several times. Again Dr. Kennedy sang, this time, "Cavatino," from "La Favorita," and was recalled for another number. The accompanists, Miss Julia Huggins and Mr. George Bauer, who so ably assisted the soloists would have been appreciated in a piano duet if time would have allowed. The "Three Quotations" from Souss and "The Sunny South," with the announcement of the drawing of the auto then followed by "The Star Spangled Banner" concluded the concert. The drawing then taking place. Little Miss Marion Strom, of McLean, Va., was blindfolded and then allowed to draw the ticket whcih bore the name of R. M. Graham, Alexandria, Va., number 3323 A. After the conclusion of the evening's entertainment, at the Opera House the assemblage repaired to the Elks' Auditorium, when the dancing began.

The entire program of dancing was much enjoyed, it being the first time Alexandria lovers of dancing have had the opportunity of tripping to the twenty-five pieces of music, and they today are asking for a return dance. The snow dance, which was the feature of the evening, was begun at eleven o'clock to the strains of "Tipperary," and was much enjoyed by the gathering of young and old.

Refreshments were served at 11:45. The dancing came to a close with regrets of all who had to take the cars for Washington, and leaving indelible to the memory thoughts of Alva Arie, Fraternal Order of Eagles. The committee is grateful to the public for the support given the entertainment. They extend their thanks to the Kramer Floral Co., Opera House Amusement Co., T. F. W. Reh Jr., the newspaper in general.

WILL LIST THE CHILDREN

Clerk of City School Board to Enumerate all Eligible as Pupils This Month.

The regular monthly meeting of the City School Board was held last night. Chairman Bradshaw presided and there were also present: Messrs. Kirk, Ervin, Myers, Cox, Pierce, Howard, Moore and Thompson.

Reports were made by the respective committees, after which Superintendent Sweeney read his report for the month of March. This showed but slight variations from conditions of the previous month. The superintendent spoke of the satisfactory work of the visiting nurse after he had read her report. He explained its utility, stating that the nurse, after examining children followed them to their homes and did not relax her endeavors until the troubles discovered had been checked.

Considerable interchange of opinion followed on the census of children eligible as pupils which will be taken this month. All children between the ages of seven and twenty will be listed. It will be remembered that the last census was unsatisfactory and that a new one was taken which produced better results and brought more money from the state treasury to Alexandria for school purposes. It is the purpose of the board this year to enumerate all children between these ages and especial care will be taken to embrace all. The clerk was ordered to make the enumeration.

On motion of Mr. Ervin permission was granted the Cameron Club to place pictures now being exhibited by the General Federation of Women Club in Lee school building from April 26 to May 1. The children will have the benefit of these pictures gratis and after school hours the general public will be given an opportunity to inspect them at a small cost.

The board adjourned at an early hour.

STORM RETARDS FISHING

Catch of Shad And Herring Meagre in Consequence of Frigid Weather of Past Week.

Fishermen have not met with much encouragement during the past few days, the storm of Friday night and Saturday brought operations to a temporary standstill. Prices, in consequence, have shown no material change. The finer varieties of roe shad were being held at $1.10 a piece in market this morning, and the best buck at 50 cents each. In the bygone years the first week in April brought many fish to Alexandria, and from that time up to the first of May Fishtown was a busy mart.

There had been predictions that the fishery of 1915 would be prosperous, it being believed the catch would surpass that of previous years. Should weather conditions prove propitious, there is still time in which to fulfill this forecast.

Secretary of War Garrison has forwarded to Col. Lansing H. Beach United States engineer at Baltimore the following letter from Secretary Redfield of the Department of Commerce, which is of importance to the fishermen in the Chesapeake:

"I earnestly hope you will direct the engineer officers in charge of the Chesapeake Bay to see that, without hesitation or fail, the laws and regulations respecting the obstruction to navigation are from the present time onward through the shad season given special attention and that all obstructions contrary to the regulations fixed by your engineer officers shall be summarily removed.

"The situation is such that the great shad fishery of Chesapeake Bay, on which thousands depend for their food supply, is seriously threatened, and the sole resource under the present conditions is the oversight and action of your department as above suggested. Much has already been done by our engineer officers in this respect and their spirit of cooperation is wholly admirable. They therefore, do not need critisism, but it will show your earnest will in the matter to back them up in doing the equitable and firm thing on behalf of the general public, to which these fisheries are of such infinite value."

The affair also emphasizes the slogan "Buy at Home," showing as it does, a special feature of each of the twenty-six business houses, which have entered.

Those who have not already secured tickets, may get them either from Allen & Co., or at the door.

WILLARD-JOHNSON ENCOUNTER.

A white man is again heavy weight champion of the world, Jack Johnson, a negro, who has posed as such during the past five years having relinquished it near Havana yesterday to Jess Willard, a gawky green-looking farmer and cowboy of Kansas. Johnson is now a back number, and he will proceed to France, where he intends to spend his remaining years in raising pigs, chickens, etc. The negro became portly in late years, the result of high living, and although fighting stubbornly during twenty six rounds, acknowledged he had met his superior, and, it is believed allowed himself to be counted out rather than undergo further punishment.

The Willard-Johnson fight brings to mind incidents of the ring from the days of early California history, when Tom Hyer and Yankee Sullivan attracted the atention of the world. Hyer was the victor. In the latter part of the fifties John C. Heenan, known at the "Benicia Boy" fought John Morrissey in Canada, near Buffalo. Heenan was declared defeated, although it was believed he was the more powerful of the two. Heenan was not in proper condition at the time, and he again challenged Morrissey. The latter declined, and he subsequently entered politics, became Grand Sachem of Tammany Hall and later was sent to Congress where he served until his death.

A match was arranged in 1860 between Heenan and Tom Sayers, the English champion. This created more interest than any fistic encounter up to that time. There were no telegraphic cables or wireless telegraphy then, and it took nearly two weeks to get the news of that fight to America. Some enterprising American publishers made arrangements to print special editions of their papers in London, giving all the details of the fight. Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper and Wilkes' Spirit of the Times were published in London on that occasion. The fight was declared a draw and both gladiators were awarded belts. Heenan met Tom King in 1864 and was defeated by the latter, who was an Englishman. Heenan had his lower lip cut open in his contest with Sayers and in his last fight the wound was split open again, and Heenan, with blood streaming from his face, presented a ghastly sight as the flesh from his chin was knocked from side to side by his opponent.

The brutality of this mill created disgust. It was hinted that Heenan sold out on that occasion. He died poor and neglected a few years later, a victim of the white plague. He had in the meantime married Ada Isaacs Menkin, a well known actress of the day, who was wont to appear as Mazeppa.

The fact that but little blood was shed in yesterday's fight is being commented upon. In the fight between Jeffries and Johnson in 1910 blood from the pugilists was spattered upon some of the bystanders.

A large percentage of the world look upon such procedures as brutal and the fact that the authorities forbid the exhibition of pictures of prize fights shows that the fistic arena is not appealing as it did in the days of our grandfathers.

THROWS SELF UNDER TRAIN.

Waynesboro Woman Commits Suicide While Deranged.

Waynesboro, Pa., April 6.—Miss [illegible] Hupert, aged 50 years, committed suicide yesterday by throwing herself beneath a passing freight train on the Cumberland Valley Railroad. When the engine passed the woman's home she was standing on the porch and waved to the engineer. When the engine passed Miss Hupert ran to the tracks and threw herself under the wheels of the cars.

Miss Hupert conducted a millinery store and was popular among the townspeople and seemed of a cheerful disposition. Three years ago she took an overdose of medicine prescribed for nervous trouble and became unconscious. Her condition so much resembled death that an undertaker was summoned, and while preparing her body for burial he discovered a spark of life and she was restored.

SHED AN EYESORE.

(Communicated.)

Editor, The Gazette:—

One of the first official acts of some department of our city government, now that we have jurisdiction over the territory, should be the removal of a frame building in the triangle fromed by King street, the electric railway tracks and the steam railway embankment, near Union station. This shack (for that is all it is) was apparently abandoned several years ago by a firm of contractors and has since become not only an eyesore but at certain seasons of the year a refuge for tramps. If it is on railroad property the railroad company should remove it as a matter of self protection. That some mischievous or thoughtless person has not applied a match to the building, thus endangering the nearby poles of the electric railway comapny, is remarkable.

Yours for.

ELECTROCUTION HUMAN.

United States Supreme Court Hands Down Decision.

Washington, April 6.—Electrocution is a more humane method of exacting the death penalty than hanging, according to a decison of the Supreme Court yetserday. Associate Justice James C. McReynolds, who read the opinion of the court, admitted that he was influenced in arriving at this conclusion by the report of the New York legislative commission which recommended the substitution of electrocution for hanging at a time when hanging was universally the practice and when the agitation for a change in New York was acute.

About a dozen States now have electrocution as the means of inflicting the death penalty. The remainder either retain hanging or do not resort to capital punishment. Justice McReynolds said he believed hanging possessed odious features which electrocution did not.

The decision was in the case of a South Carolina negro convicted of murder committed before the South Carolina electrocution law went into effect and sentenced after it had become effective. His appeal was based on two grounds—the relative cruelty of hanging and electrocution statute provided for a greater number of witnesses than were required under the hanging law. Neither objection was held by the Supreme Court to be tenable.

ANGRY MAN FIRES AT CROWD.

Wounds Two Boys Who Tormented Him With Snowballs.

Philadelphia, April 6.—Infuriated when made the target for snowballs thrown by a crowd of youths at Thirtieth and Wharton streets yesterday, Giuseppe Picciani, 27 years old, of Twenty-sixth street near Washington avenue, drew a revolver and fired two shots at his tormentors. When an attempt was made to disarm him he shot one youth through the hand and another in the back. Both were taken to the Polyclinic Hospital and will recover. Albert McIlhenny, 23 years old, received the bullet wound in the hand, and George Sweeney, 17 years old, shot in the back. The Italian was arrested.

F. TENNYSON NEELY TO SHOW MOTION PICTURES OF EUROPEAN WAR IN THIS CITY

Alexandria Gazette Secures for People of Alexandria This Remarkable Attraction for the First Time Shown Outside of the Big Cities

F. TENNYSON NEELY
THE MAN OF THE HOUR
Presenting his
WONDERFUL WAR PICTURES

The Alexandria Gazette has arranged with Mr. F. Tennyson Neely. the lecturer and traveler, to appear in Alexandria on April 9th and 10th at the Opera House to give the public the great treat of seeing his wonderful European war pictures and to hear Mr. Neely's neutral lecture on the great war in Europe.

Mr. Neely has just closed a series of lectures at the Belasco Theater, Washington, where his pictures were shown eight times and attracted much favorable comment, in fact the press were united in declaring that no such panorama had ever been seen. Mr. Neely has over 10,000 feet of actual war pictures in motion which are run at extra speed so as to give the audience the benefit of the greatest amount of pictures ever presented in a single lecture. Although Mr. Neely has hundreds of beautifully colored slides, he has no time to show them in connection with the motion pictures.

Mr. Neely has traveled extensively in Europe for the past thirty years and discusses the war with authority.

Mr. Neely's mission is peace and he predicts that the war will end in sixty days, and but for the splendid policy of President Wilson in his foreign policy and especially toward Mexico the nation would have been at war.

It will be remembered by many that Mr. Neely appeared before the Committe of Foreign Affairs at Washington a year ago to discuss conditions in Mexico and show his pictures, since which time he has traveled over half the United States and Canada, including a Chautauqua tour.

Mr. Neely is a true southerner having been born at Mount Pleasant, Florida, near the Gulf of Mexico. His early boyhood was spent on a farm Salisbury, N. C. He abandoned his college course at Indiana University to enter the publishing business at Indianapolis. This business grew to branches in Chicago, New York and London, collapsing in the panic of 1898, sweeping away his entire fortune. Mexico appealed to him. The present war brought an end to all progress. He has intimate business relations in many sections of this interesting land, enabling him to speak with authority.

The purpose of the Gazette is to give the people of Alexandria this rare opportunity of hearing and seeing the exact facts regarding the greatest war in history without any partiality and from an unbiased view point. Think what a treat it would be if we had today motion pictures of the great battles of the past.

Mr. Neely will appear with his pictures on Friday and Saturday evening next, April 9th and 10th at 8:15 P. M. at the Opera House. The Gazette has placed the price of tickets within the reach of all. Main floor 20 cents, gallery 10 cents. No extra charge for reserved seats at Warfield's drug store.

NO PASSPORTS FOR PLEASURE.

Trips to Europe Restricted to Those Who Have Business.

Washington, April 6.—No passports will be issued by the State Department to Americans desiring to go aboard on pleasure; the passports will only be issued to those who have business in Europe, it has been announced.

The purpose of the State Department in limiting passports to Europe is to break up the traffic of curiosity seekers who wish to visit the war zone. The death of Leon C. Thrasher, when the British steamer Falaba was torpedoed by a German submarine, influenced the action of the department.

An official of the State Department in explaining the new passport order, declared there is a grave danger of international complications if harm comes to Americans abroad, especially in view of the fact that the American Government has notified Germany that that country will be held strictly responsible for the death of citizens of the United States from the new war zone warfare. It is feared that if many Americans are killed it will anger the people of this country.

DEATH LIST MAY BE 100.

Reports of New Disasters During Saturday's Storm.

New York, April 6.—Latest reports received here of the effects of the great storm which swept the Atlantic coast Friday and Saturday indicated that the toll of human life would reach nearly 100 persons.

The Royal Dutch West Indies steamer Prins Maurits, with 49 persons aboard, is believed to have foundered off Cape Hatteras. Not a word that would give hope that the vessel was still afloat has been received.

Fifteen of the crew of the seagoing tug Edward Luckenbach perished when the tug was wrecked off False Cape, Virginia.

Ten men were drowned when two coal barges broke away from the tug Cumberland and were pounded to pieces off Cape Henlopen, Delaware.

Thirteen men aboard the barge Tampico, which broke away from her tow, are believevd to have been lost.

Dozens of barges, schooners and other craft went ashore at various points along the coast, where crews were rescued by other vessels or coast guards. Barges fared worse than other craft. Many broke away from tugs and were driven aground. Lightships were torn from their moorings and driven before the wind, shore resorts were swept by wind and waves and beaches were strewn with wreckage of small craft.

News was received in Genoa yesterday that a German submarine had sunk the Italian steamer Lulgi Parodi, which left Baltimore on January 22, with a cargo of coal for Genoa. The report has caused a profound impression, and there are many expressions of resentment. Great excitement prevails and the authorities have taken strong measures to protect the German colony and German shops from the possible exaction of reprisals.

DEATH OF DOCTOR COLER

President of Virginia Christain College Dies in Lynchburg

ATTACKED BY NEGROES

Deputy Sheriff of Alexandria County in a Critical Condition.

Beaten by a crowd of colored men while attempting to make an arrest at Johnsons Hill, Alexandria county early this morning, Deputy Sheriff Richard Langley, of Alexandria county, Va., is in such a critical condition at Emergency Hospital that doctors hold out only slight hopes for his recovery.

The victim is suffering from several deep cuts on the face and head and many have a fracture of the skull, the doctors say.

Deputy Sheriff Langley, who lives at Clarendon, Va. was summoned shortly after midnight to quell a disturbance at Johnsons Hill, some distance from the Virginia end of the Acqueduct bridge.

He had hardly arrived at the scene of the disturbance when he was set upon before he could draw his revolver and beaten into insensibility. Langley is thirty seven years old and is well known in this city.

ROUND WITHDRAWS PLAN.

Accedes to Wishes of Confederate Organizations And Leaders in Interest of Peace.

Richmond, April 6.—After a storm of protest from the Daughters of the Confederacy all over the State, Lieutenant George Carr Round, who proposed the Peace Jubilee at Appomattox, to be held on the fiftieth anniversary of General Lee's surrender, has recalled the invitation in the interest of the peace he said he was trying to promote. The Daughters arose in all their righteous indignation, protesting against holding a jubilee over the ashes of the Confederacy. They hold that it would be nothing short of a desecration, and that true Southerners could never participate in anything that would intimate in the least that they had relinquished their love of the Lost Cause. Furthermore they assert that it would be impossible to celebrate the dawn of peace at Appomattox, when in truth peace had not dawned, for even darker days of reconstruction were yet to come.
